In the Rear View Mirror

What a kick-off to our return here in Iceland. In a recent prayer letter, I mentioned a man named Brynjólfur with whom I had the opportunity to share the gospel. After our very first service back in Iceland, he pulled me to the side and shared with me the wonderful news that he had trusted Christ as his Savior! Praise God for this new spiritual birth into God's family! We are always so thankful to be a part of God's plan to reach the world with the good news of Jesus's death, burial, and resurrection. Just a few weeks later, he and Pamela, another young teenager, followed Christ in believer's baptism. Pamela's decision to be baptized is another testimony to the power of the gospel. In Iceland, it is perhaps the most traditionally expected decision to be confirmed in the state Lutheran Church. After being confirmed, parents will often throw a large party where the young teens will receive thousands of dollars of gifts. We have seen other teens baptized, but they typically also go through confirmation as well. Pamela chose not to be confirmed but rather to only be baptized instead. On top of all of this wonderful news, we also had a church-wide outreach where over six hundred invitations were distributed. You may remember that these invitations have QR codes on them which link to videos on YouTube. Yet again, the most watched video is the Icelandic gospel presentation with a new total of 7,500 views! God is good.

The Road Ahead

In just a few days, we will hold our "Graduation Sunday" where each age group will move up to their new grade level in our Icelandic Sunday school program. As a part of this new arrangement, Megumi will be the teacher for the 1st and 2nd grades, and I will be the assistant teacher for 7th grades and up. I will have the privilege to teach these teens a memory verse and supervise them as they play some games and enjoy a snack each week. During September, Pastor Weimer has been asked to teach and preach at a couple's retreat in the U.S. Please pray for us as we will be tremendously short-staffed during their 10-day absence. During this time, Megumi and I will have the privilege of teaching and preaching in both English and Icelandic as well as filling in many other areas of service. Thank you for your faithful support which allows us to see these advances for the cause of Christ. You play a crucial part in that.

Sincerely,

-The Sears Family
